Dear Ones –

You are the people who I am grateful to each year (every day, really) for your friendship, professional camaraderie, training, mentoring, toiling... I usually give a token gift to each of you to represent my gratitude at this time of year. I am writing to say that there will be no token gift from me this year (GGGGRRRRIIIINCH!). (Mostly due to Cornelius's unsuccessful job search – must be the whiskers...!). My gratitude has not diminished an iota.

So, THANK YOU for your continued friendship, professional camaraderie, training, mentoring, toiling. Especially as my "Jill-sy Communication" skills continue to complicate your lives... I am grateful for your extra efforts, patience and kindnesses towards me. You are a great bunch of people!

Best Wishes in 2012,

Jill

PS: Oh – this also means I would be particularly mortified to receive gifts, as it is a law of the universe that gifts are exchanged – not one way. I hate to cry poor-mouth when I just returned from Aruba, but the heat bills are picking up steam and the wallet must be in-check. Your continued raports' are the best gift I can receive.
